Practitioner Diploma in Transpersonal Coaching

A Transformative Training Path

Led by experienced coaches with nearly 40 years of experience between them, this course expands the coaching field beyond personal limitations and performance objectives.

Transpersonal coaching addresses the entire human spectrum - including physical, psychological and spiritual dimensions. By connecting clients to their deeper consciousness, we enable them to resolve real-world challenges through a grounded, spiritual lens.

This training is a path to your own conscious growth, as well as that of your future clients.

Step Into Your Future

Just imagine, one year from now, you are a CTS certified Transpersonal Coach.

You work with clients who inspire you, as you support their thinking away from an isolated sense of self and toward a more expansive, interconnected identity.

No day and no client process are the same. As you tap into the wide range of intellectual, emotional, somatic, and spiritual resources you have learned, your clients discover a profound sense of purpose and effectively express it within their daily lives, careers and relationships.

By developing your own presence and awareness, you empower both clients and yourself to take a considered and compassionate approach to life. As you slow down the speed of normal every day reaction, you uncover new thinking and creative solutions that arise from lived experience meeting the field of unlimited potential.

Accessing this meeting point is the heart of our transformative approach.

What is Transpersonal Coaching?

Transpersonal coaching is both an approach and a method.

As an approach, it seeks to work with the whole human to support the client's growth and personal development, and is founded in the belief that we are profoundly interconnected. We are bound to each other in beautiful tapestry - to ourselves, to each other, to our forebears and future generations, and to all other beings on this planet including the planet herself. We are gifted with a unique internal guidance system, through dreams, inspiration, journeys, instincts and intuition, which we can use intentionally to navigate a life of meaning.

As a method, transpersonal coaching is a practical tool for working with clients on their change agenda, in a way that honours this inner and outer web of connection. Our seven stage process is both logical and capable of producing leaps of insight. The art and the joy of coaching is in supporting the client to put these insights into action, through experiments and reflection, in order to create meaningful change.

Who is this programme for?

The Seeker Turned Guide

the professional wishing to deepen their connection to spirit and the individual ready to coach, and live, from the centre of their being.

The Helping Professionals who wish to integrate spiritual and transpersonal dimensions into their clinical work and prevent burnout.

The Impactful Leaders who want to bring a deeper, soul-aligned approach to culture and people development.

Seekers of Personal Transformation who are ready to explore the furthest reaches of human nature and potential.

The Meaning-Led Entrepreneur

looking to create a second income stream or transition into a new career path.

This curriculum is built for deep personal inquiry, professional boundaries and human growth. It is not suited for those seeking "quick-fix" performance tracking, superficial motivational strategies, or generic business coaching.

Our Living Cornerstones

Our work is guided by four core values:

Curiosity

A non-judgmental state of awareness which embraces the unknown, allowing us to explore and integrate the spectrum of the human and spiritual experience without the ego's need to control, label, or fix it.

Compassion

This is the capacity of the soul to witness the pain of the human condition with absolute presence—creating an antidote to our inner resistance by meeting our human struggles with open hearted warmth and understanding.

Courage

Protecting our inner integrity. Standing steady under pressure to speak truth, refusing to make choices from fear and trusting the intelligence of the transformative process, even when the ego cannot see the outcome.

Connection

In transpersonal coaching this is the bridge from isolation to belonging: where the illusion of separation dissolves into a deep alignment with Self, others, the world, and the more-than-human realms of soul & spirit.

About the Diploma

Why Choose This Training?

A Sacred Space for Professional Awakening

We provide a professional home for those ready to bridge transpersonal depth with practical coaching mastery. To guide others into deep self-awareness, you must first trace that map within yourself. This programme serves as the ground for your own inner development, equipping you to stand as an authentic, fully present guide for your clients.

Experiential & Organic Learning

Our educational approach is deeply experiential. Through somatic inquiry, nature-connected work, and creative exploration of consciousness maps, you will learn how to access the wisdom that lies past the analytical mind. You will integrate skills, techniques, and your own coaching presence - which invites new thinking and transformation.

Transformation & Professional Grounding

People are seeking greater meaning, purpose, and integration in a changing world. Our curriculum is built to address these deep existential patterns and transpersonal dynamics while upholding the absolute highest standards of professional safety and integrity. You will discover how to hold a secure, inclusive container that honours profound spiritual insights without losing professional grounding.
